

STRIKE THE BALANCE:

Integrating Business, Compliance & Ethics

Strategic and management skills for compliance and risk management professionals.

Effective compliance and risk management leaders use their skills to build a sustainable culture of doing the right thing while collaboratively solving business challenges.

Strike the Balance: Integrating Business, Compliance & Ethics will help compliance and risk management professionals meet business challenges ethically, legally and sustainably. The program is also designed to benefit in-house and outside counsel, audit professionals, and outside advisors to organizations. Using scenario-based learning, participants will effectively manage business interactions through strategic insights and partnerships, influential communication and effective change management. Participants will also be invited to apply concepts and tools related to their own compliance and risk management business challenges as well as share learnings. The program will be taught by leading compliance and ethics officers and will include extensive peer-to-peer exchanges.
